

Case Study: Recovering $4 Million in Federal Funding

Client: A Tribal government dependent on federal funding for various programs

Project: Federal Programmatic Financial Report Corrections

Challenge:

The client was unable to access over $4 million in allocated funding due to errors in more than 200 federal programmatic financial reports, spanning nearly 15 years.

Solution:

JW Industries Group (JWIG) conducted a comprehensive audit to identify and correct all reporting discrepancies by both the client and federal agencies. We successfully resubmitted the corrected reports to the relevant federal agencies and provided improved reporting templates and training to prevent future issues.

Outcome:

Our efforts resulted in the recovery of $4 million in federal funding, enhanced accuracy in financial reporting, and the agencies confidence in the client's ability to manage federal funds.

Impact:

- $4 million in funding recovered
- Improved accuracy in financial reporting
- Strengthened capability in managing federal funds

Conclusion:

JWIG's meticulous audit and correction process were instrumental in recovering significant federal funding for the client, ensuring financial stability and improving future reporting practices.
